

PARK SITE SUITABILITY ANALYSIS

Using multi-criteria spatial analysis to identify suitable locations for future park development.

Suitable Park Locations in Delaware County

Which locations in Delaware County are most suitable for future park development based on environmental and accessibility criteria?

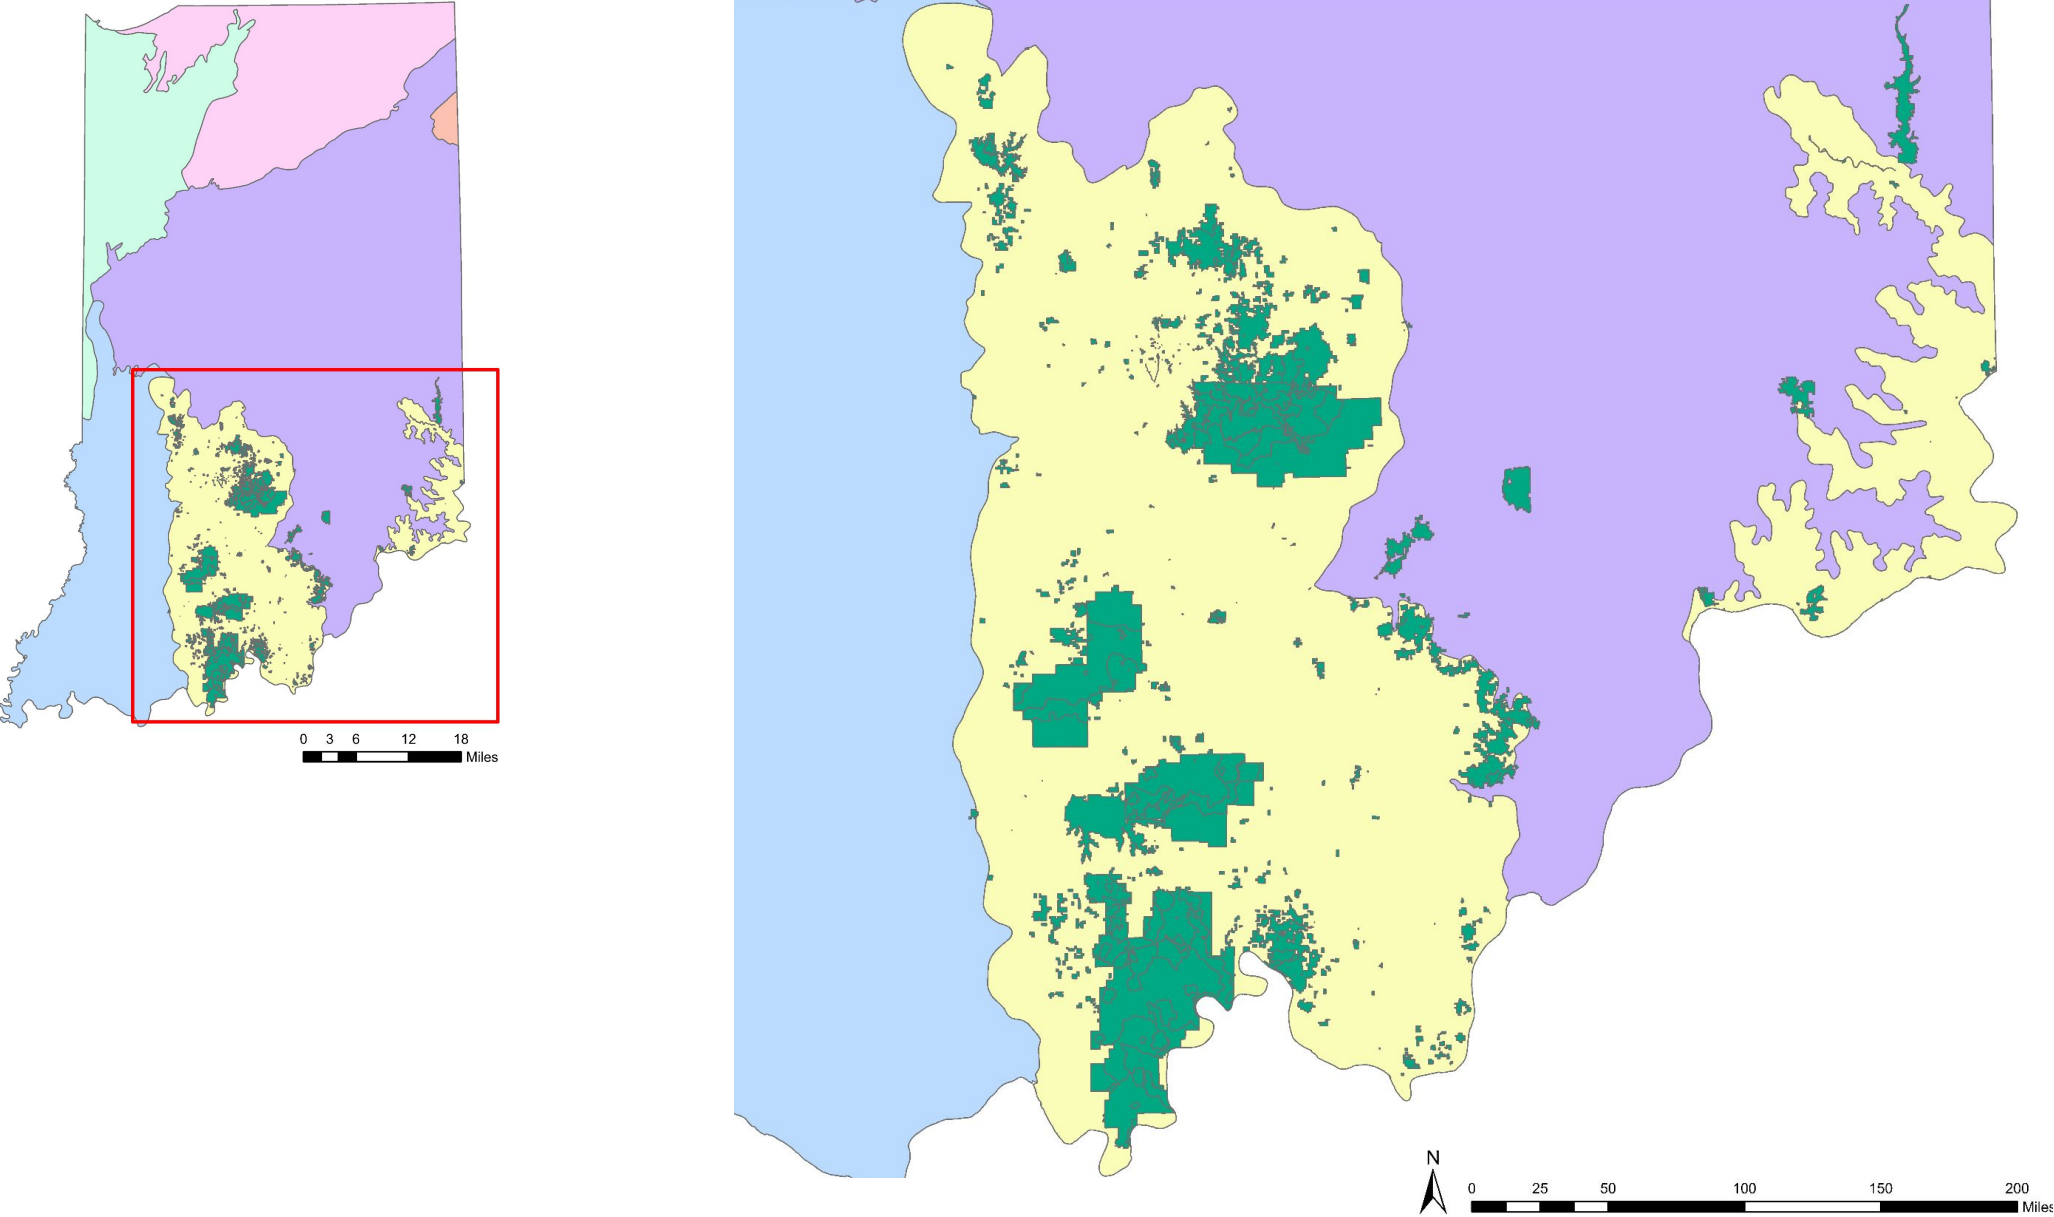

Spatial Insight

GIS suitability analysis integrates multiple environmental and accessibility criteria to identify locations that support future park development while minimizing land-use conflicts.

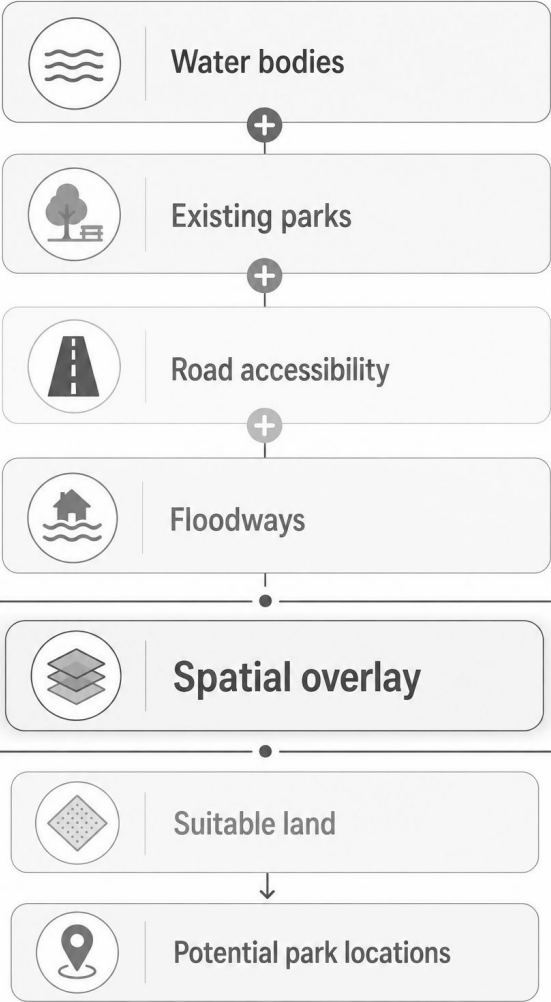

UNDERSTANDING PARK SUITABILITY

Understanding how environmental and accessibility criteria informed the selection of future park locations.

Existing Park Network

- Parks and Recreation
- Central Corn Belt Plains
- Eastern Corn Belt Plains
- Huron/Erie Lake Plains
- Interior Plateau
- Interior River Valleys and Hills
- Southern Michigan/Northern Indiana Drift Plains

Spatial Pattern

Existing parks are concentrated within environmentally suitable landscapes, illustrating how natural resources have historically influenced park development.

Planning Insight

Existing park distribution provides a valuable foundation for identifying underserved areas and guiding future recreational investment.